DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 1-12 and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Jones (6,475,290).

Jones discloses a cleaning solution for substrates such as motor vehicles (claim 1) comprising anionic surfactants such as lignosulfonate; pH adjusting agents; 0.5 to 5.0% by weight of a microorganism and water (col. 3, lines 28-33). Moreover, see examples 1-2 and claim 1.

As this reference teaches all of the instantly required it is considered anticipatory.

In the alternative that the above disclosure is insufficient to anticipate the above listed claims, it would have nonetheless been obvious to the skilled artisan to produce the claimed composition, as the reference teaches each of the claimed ingredients within the claimed proportions for the same utility.

6. Claims 1-7 and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Teasdale et al (6,376,451).

Teasdale et al discloses a hard surface cleaning composition comprising anionic, nonionic surfactants; an enzyme; bacteria; a stabilizer; a buffer and water (col. 1, line 43-col. 2, line 3). Teasdale et al further teach that said bacteria are present in an amount from 0.1 to 10% by weight (see Table and claims).

As this reference teaches all of the instantly required it is considered anticipatory.

Art Unit: 1751

In the alternative that the above disclosure is insufficient to anticipate the above listed claims, it would have nonetheless been obvious to the skilled artisan to produce the claimed composition, as the reference teaches each of the claimed ingredients within the claimed proportions for the same utility.

7. Claims 1-4 and 6-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Hei et al (5,871,590).

Hei et al disclose an aqueous composition for cleaning vehicle surfaces such as cars and trucks in automatic car washes comprising surfactants, sequestrants, chelating agents solvent and water (col. 4, line 25-col. 5, line 11).

Hei et al disclose all of the instantly required and therefore is considered anticipatory.

In the alternative, Hei et al is silent with respect to the microorganism limitation, however, this limitation is considered inherent to the compositions of Hei et al because water inherently comprises microorganism.

8. Claims 1-4 and 6-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Leadingham et al (5,525,255)..

Leadingham et al disclose a cleaning agent for use in self propelled vehicle-scrubbing equipment, wherein said vehicles include trucks (col. 1, lines 58-63 and col. 5, lines 35-39). Leadingham et al teach that said cleaning agent comprises nonylphenol ethoxylates; alkane sulfonates, and a microorganism in an aqueous solution (see examples 1 and 2).

Leadingham et al disclose all of the instantly required and therefore is considered anticipatory.

In the alternative that the above disclosure is insufficient to anticipate the above listed claims, it would have nonetheless been obvious to the skilled artisan to produce the claimed composition, as the reference teaches each of the claimed ingredients within the claimed proportions for the same utility.
